Open Praise for Children Helps to Direct Them Toward Good—Danger of Open Praise an Old Threadbare Idea—Skirt With Tunic Much in Evidence—Peg Top and Draped Skirts Very Good Style—Russian Blouse Jacket Again on Fashion's List—Favorite Trimmings for Hats—Fanne Velvet Ribbons to the Fore—Satin and Moire Taffeta Ribbons Exceptionally Good—Lace Bows Very Effective.

OPEN PRAISE FOR CHILDREN

A young girl's ability to achieve great strengths when she is made conversant with her own superior qualities and instructed to improve them. If a girl is pretty, tell her so. There is nothing to be feared if her passions and affections have been properly guarded and trained by a mother or one who cherishes her happiness. It is far better for her to hear it from her mother than from a young man on the street or a clandestine tyrant. In the former instance the tendency is to make her proud of her gifts, graceful and amiable. In the latter the certainty is that she will grow vain, conceited, and deceitful.

A girl with beauty is sure to find it out. It is a gift that can no more be withheld from her than the consciousness of loving. And I am sure that no girl was ever rendered less noble, more pert, more pretentious by receiving recognition at home, where criticism is of the kind that says bare all of her faults as well.

Old threadbare ideas as to the dangers of open praise are preserved under an impenetrable crust of cant while every twentieth century boy and girl in the universe is clamoring for more appreciation, more sympathy, more applause at home.

Who do so many intellectual girls who are utilizing their gifts complain of how their progress has been retarded and their tingling aspirations dashed by discouraging words at home? For the same reason that so many men who engage in the higher arts and professions find it absolutely necessary to establish a separate and independent home from under that parental roof in order to preserve their interests and advance their undertakings, sometimes in another quarter in the same town, sometimes in another quarter of the globe.

In cases where an opposite method was pursued, where a man or woman was stimulated from infancy to greatness by prophecies which stirred into action the faculties of self-esteem and idealism from the mother who hung over the cradle, they imbibed the conviction that some day they would be somebody and do something. Such men and women will always admit that without the firm faith in themselves and their destinies that their mothers implanted they would have faltered in their careers and more than likely would have given themselves over to natural tendencies of idleness and love of amusement.

So tell no little girl that she is a blockhead nor ridicule her slender limbs. Never call attention to her awkwardness, but encourage her to become beautiful by beautiful thoughts and actions.

Remember: The power of beauty is one which should not be used for selfish purposes. It is a force, and may be directed for good or evil toward its possessor and toward those whose lives its influence touches.

NEW MODES

The charming skirt with the tunic is much in evidence. It is particularly smart when it repeats the cutaway lines of the coat, and when it is made in triple effect. I do not think that the predictions for the tunic model can be too glowing, because it is effective and has a certain chic that can only be given by straight and clearly defined lines.

However, there are many tailor-mades that have draped skirts. The 75 per cent style, which was not a success last season, has influenced one of these new modes to such a degree that it should be called the perfected peg top. In the front it is draped downwards and upwards, to give the lacy effect at the hips, but in the back it is quite straight and flat, so that it will not break the line of the coat. This skirt in white pencil striped black velvet de laine, is very good-looking with a plain black cut of the same fine fabric.

The Russian blouse jacket is again on Fashion's list. This time, it is more charming, for it is fashioned with the natural waistline and its regular stock collar has been replaced by the graceful de medici collar of lace.

Nearly every suit has a waistcoat—either separate, attached or in effect! For this reason, there are many suits with jaunty one-button jackets, that permit the waistcoat to be quite visible. These waistcoats generally have the collars and revers attached to them. Then, there are some Russian waistcoats of fine silks and rich embroideries, that invite the taking off of coats in restaurants or at matinees.

Sashes are also an important factor! Nearly all the coats that are designed in the Directorate mode have wide crushed sashes extending from the very high to the normal waistline, and finished with large bows in the front. The loose draped sash that Paul Poiret introduced on a gown a little while ago is now seen on coats—it is inset at the side seams and hangs loose until it is tied in a large bow near the end of the coat in the back.

FAVORITES IN TRIMMINGS

Ribbons leads as a trimming and there are no signs of its popularity waning. Fallies, ottomans, moires, and brocaded ribbons all have a great vogue, some of the last-named being exceptionally beautiful. Fanne velvet ribbons are also to the fore, and some of these have a rough plush effect which is very good. Black and white plaid effects will be in good demand this autumn and other plaids are likely to find considerable favor. Satin ribbon seems to be well liked and is being largely used for bows and rosettes. In many cases the cloths of the gown are being entirely covered with ribbon, and it is the exception to find the hat on which ribbon is not being used to some extent.

Lace is being employed in quite astonishing quantities both to swathe the hats and wired on as bows. Velvet, velours, cloth, peau de peche moire and moire antique are very popular materials. Brocaded velvet is being used in most extraordinarily pretty patterns and gives such fine effects that no one can grudge it its success.

Paris reports the use of buttons as a garnishment. These are of agate and are striped and barred with black. It is an odd idea, but may take on and is being chiefly used with hats designed to go with traveling costumes. Some hats so trimmed are also being used for semi-mourning. Square and oblong buckles of jet, mother-of-pearl, jade and enamel are other garnishments used to hold ribbon bows, and in some cases paste, imitation pearl, and enamel brooches serve the same purpose.

CONTRACT FOR TUNNEL SIGNED, WORK TO START

Denver, Oct. 9.—The contract between the city of Denver and the Denver & Salt Lake railroad, embracing the terms of the construction of the Moffat tunnel, has now been signed by both parties to the agreement, making it an effective document. The following telegram received today by the Moffat tunnel commission, brought the news that directors of the Denver & Salt Lake railroad had officially accepted the terms of the contract.

"New York.—To Jesse Fleming, president Moffat tunnel commission, Denver, Colo.: Board of directors of Denver & Salt Lake railroad company at meeting today authorized and confirmed execution of tunnel contract, which I have executed, and am sending five executed originals to you. Sincerely, Dines. I wish to congratulate your commission and the city of Denver upon the completion of this first part of important work."

(Signed) "NEWMAN ERB"

Two steps are expected to follow this action. One is the setting of a date for the bond election to provide funds for the construction work. The other is the locating of the site of the tunnel by the engineers selected by the commission for that purpose.—C. M. Jacobs, D. W. Branton and John Wellington Finch.

MOORE MUST ANSWER TO MURDER CHARGE

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 10.—Detectives left last night for Minneapolis with a requisition on the governor of Minnesota for the return to California of Harold Moore, an automobile owner, who is alleged to have run down and killed Eugene Place in San Francisco in June, 1911.

San Francisco detectives conducted a two-year search for Moore who was captured recently while visiting in Minneapolis. Moore will be prosecuted under a state law which makes it a felony for a motorist to speed away without aiding a victim he has run down. He is 39 years old and said to be a member of a wealthy Minneapolis family.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.—Agents, A. R. McIntyre.

BEGAN CAREER ON UNION CIRCUIT

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 10.—Leslie Bush or "Joe Bullet" as he was known on the Union association circuit, began his professional baseball career with the Missoula club as the rawest of recruit pitchers. Under the coaching of Manager Blankenship, himself a former major league catcher, Bush quickly developed into a diamond in the rough and it was largely through his great work, coupled with that of Pitcher Carl Zamloch, who was sold to Detroit, that Missoula won the Union association pennant in 1912.

Bush participated in 45 games of which he won nearly two-thirds. He was sold to Connie Mack in mid-season for $1500 after several major league scouts had "looked him over."

PROMINENT JAPANESE HONORED

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Carnegie endowment for international peace gave a dinner here last night in honor of Wachi Seki and Zimbei Horiki, two members of the Japanese parliament, who are on their way home from The Hague peace conference. Ambassador Chinda, Secretary Redford, the department of commerce, and several prominent members of congress were present.

CLUBS TAKE UP DRESS QUESTION

National Women's Federation to Canvass Dress and Dance Situation.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Condemnation of the split skirt, the diaphanous dress and the modern dances that include the Tango, the Turkey Trot and the "Bunny Hug" is to be urged on the national federation of women's clubs. Dr. E. C. Folkmar, chairman of the hygiene committee of the local branch of the federation today issued a call for a meeting next Thursday to canvass the situation.

SAN FRANCISCO TO CELEBRATE NOISILY

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10.—San Francisco was prepared to celebrate noisily today the blowing up of Bamboos like in the Panama canal. Bombs, bells and whistles accompanied the cheering of thousands of citizens assembled at Union Square. A set program, including the singing of patriotic songs, addresses and the raising of the American flag by Miss Annette Rolph, daughter of the mayor, and by a parade was carried out. As a part of the day's festivities, the site for Panama's building on exposition grounds was dedicated by Senator John F. Lefevre, the Panamanian commissioner.

VEGETATION IS TO BE BURNED

"Within another week the sickness which has been prevalent this year among the wild ducks and geese will be entirely eliminated," said P. W. Chambers yesterday. Mr. Chambers said that the recent rains have washed the sloughs of its infecting substance and the ducks and geese are rapidly recovering from the disease with which they have been infected. According to Mr. Chambers, the same trouble has been experienced in the Montana shooting grounds, but to the extent to which the wild fowl in Utah has been affected. Unless the government experts who are now here making an investigation into the cause of the sickness among the wild fowls are able to determine fully the real reason for the sickness, I will ask the next legislature to make an appropriation which will enable me to burn off all of the vegetation on the sloughs in Salt Lake valley," said Mr. Chambers.

ALL SORTS OF WEATHER MANY KINDS OF COLD

Today will be fair but cooler, according to the weather man, who yesterday dished out weather of every known variety to suit the tastes of all. There was rain, hail, snow, sunshine and cloudiness all in one day, with the moisture variety holding the stage for the greater part. In explanation of this round of changes the weather man explained as follows: "The northwest high pressure increased somewhat in energy and moved inland, being accompanied by general cooler weather. The Nevada storm moved to Wyoming, hitting Utah enroute, bringing along rain and snow. Temperatures were above normal yesterday, but in the eastern half of the country were several degrees below normal in the western portion."

WELTERWEIGHTS MIX FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 10.—Spike Kelly and Mike Gibbons, welterweights, fought ten rounds to a draw in the Kenosha arena last night. It was about an even thing between the aspirants for the welterweight championship. Gibbons showed better ring generalship but Kelly always was willing to mix and kept Gibbons moving all the time. Gibbons had a big lead in the opening rounds, but with the exception of the tenth the closing rounds were Kelly's. Both men were strong at the close.

At the semi-windup Jimmy Walsh of England had a big shade over Bobbie Pach of Chicago.

SEN. REED SMOOT IS A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Senator Reed Smoot is a candidate for reelection to the United States senate. He made that announcement yesterday just prior to his departure for Washington to resume his duties in that body. While the election is still more than a year in the future, the senator said he felt the announcement should be made at this time because his work will keep him in Washington for many months.

"I am a candidate for reelection," said Senator Smoot yesterday, "wholly upon my record. My second term as representative in the senate of the people of this state is drawing towards its close. They have had ample opportunity to determine whether my services have been of value; there is no fact touching my official life, or the performance of my official duties, with which they are not familiar. They have before them every item of importance bearing upon the efficiency or otherwise, with which I have met the obligations they have placed upon me, they know whether or not I have been faithful to their interests, and whether the results attained are such as they desire."

"Since I was last chosen to the senate, the method of electing senators has been modified. The constitutional amendment providing for their selection by direct vote of the people is already in effect and operation and I welcome the opportunity to undergo that test. Popular government can exist only so long as the people's representatives in office are faithful to their trust, energetic in discharging the duties laid upon them and scrupulously frank and honest with their constituents. It is from the people that the lawmakers receive commissions and I shall gladly accept a renewal of mine if I have satisfied them."

"I am very glad that Senator Smoot has announced his candidacy for reelection," said Governor William Spry. "From the record he has made in Washington there is no reason why he should not be re-elected. He has stood for all that would advance the interests and standing of Utah and deserves the support of her people. Personally I am in favor of his election."

WHEN ADMIRATION WEAKENS.

"We naturally strive to intimate those whom we admire." "Not always. Every small boy admires Santa Claus, but none of them want to grow up and have the kind of whiskers he is represented as wearing."

Don't Let a Cold Settle on Your Lungs

Many cases of Lung Trouble can be traced directly to a severe cold which has been neglected, and which, as a result, has affected the lungs. If you have a persistent cough or cold, take warning before it is too late. Eckman's Alternative is most beneficial in such cases and has been the means of completely restoring to health many persons who had serious lung trouble. Read of this case:

Pleasantville, N. J. "Gentlemen: During the winter of 1911 I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. The doctor pronounced it lung trouble. I tried nearly every preparation without any result, and kept getting worse. Eckman's Alternative was recommended to me and I commenced using it as a last resort. The first bottle seemed to give no relief; in fact, I seemed to feel worse, but I kept on using the medicine and found out the first bottle had really started me on the road to recovery by loosening the mucus and making me expectorate freely. After using the medicine for some time my cough ceased. I gained flesh and today I am a well man." (Signed) "GEO. M. BATES."

Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Chronic Asthma, Stomach Colds and in rebuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

GRAND BALL AT THE ACADEMY

Last Monday morning there was inaugurated a campaign for selling tickets to the Academy lecture course. An unusually interesting program for eleven nights during the year was read and commented upon by Prof. Hansen, who then proceeded to announce a ten dollar prize and two five dollar prizes to the student selling the most season tickets. Citizens of Ogden may expect these young people to call on them soon with a very attractive offer.

"Gratitude was the theme discussed by Miss Charlotte Stallings before the student body last Tuesday morning, and the speaker aptly illustrated it."

with a good story from the life of President Lincoln. The reception and grand hall to be given by the teachers to the students this evening is the one talked of event in hall and corridor. The committees are actively at work to make it a worthy follower of previous occasions of the kind. Preparations are also being made to the end that no lady student shall stay at home for want of a proper escort.

In the fourth year English class, Prof. Nelson has been conducting a rather unique three-day contest in oral story telling. The students who constitute the graduating class, chose up sides, and made their teacher critic and judge. The competition proved unusually stimulating, and the class was kept in an uproar of amusement. The results of the contest are not yet tabulated.

A kindly and much interested visitor to the school was Patricia Taylor of the North Weber stake, who occupied the devotional period in a well-timed talk to the young people.

"I Really Enjoy My Wife's Little Dinners, Now"

And it's all because we've got a dandy new range. Do you know—for the longest time I thought my wife was losing the knack of her old-time good baking, when it was all the fault of an old worn-out range with loose bolts and open cracks that you could stick a knife into. No wonder wife had poor luck with everything she put in the oven. Because we were saving the price of a new range, we thought we were economizing—all a mistake, though—our new Great Majestic is easily earning its cost in the fuel-saving alone—and such baking and roasting!

You see, the Majestic is put together with rivets so that its joints and seams are practically air-tight—and they stay so forever. The body is lined with a thick sheet of pure asbestos board, placed behind an open grate so you can see it. This combination is the sole secret of the wonderful improvement in my wife's baking and roasting—since we purchased a
